

ESPADA

Logistics and Security Group

Land-Based Security and Training

With a former US Naval Special Warfare operator and Federal Law Enforcement officer in charge of our security programs, ESPADA understands the security challenges facing our clients in remote operational conditions.

A critical area of focus leading to our success is maintaining a strong working relationship with a host country's military as well as the local population's leadership. This cooperative approach is paramount to the successful operation and creation of long-term favorable outcomes in austere locations and under challenging conditions.

We can implement security tactics and tools to protect your expensive equipment and materiel. By proactively focusing on planning and procedures for loss mitigation, ESPADA works with our clients to avoid costly setbacks resulting from hostile activity.

Additionally, ESPADA has extensive experience in training military and law enforcement personnel in both land-based and maritime environments.

More information about our extensive land-based training capabilities can be found on our website: www.EspadaServices.com.
