Logistics and Security Group

Logistics

Cost effective business operations are accomplished through established relationships in-country, a key competitive advantage that you will enjoy by partnering with ESPADA. Our logistics personnel possess many years experience supplying companies with the materials and support they need to effectively operate in remote areas. As military operators and experienced project managers, we fully understand how proper logistics management can have a significant positive impact on operations.

ESPADA's logistics personnel work hard to ensure our customers navigate the challenges involved in the expedited shipping of critical parts and supplies to keep equipment on line and in production, thereby avoiding costly downtime. We also help our clients maintain the morale of their workers by providing them with many of the comforts of home, including exceptional cuisine and the communications capability to stay in touch with their loved ones.

More information about our extensive logistic capabilities can be found on our website: www.EspadaServices.com.
